ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An improved method for matchmaking of a searcher and prospective candidates, including providing an image of each candidate, analyzing the image to define physical characteristics of each of the candidates, and selecting at least one potential match between the searcher and the candidates based on the characteristics.